

Sustainability, in the real world, is not possible. This could be seen as cynical but sustainability is not a thing that can physically exist in any system. If we take a look to the big picture we can see that the universe is not stable because of the entropy, on the smaller scale we see the earth is losing mass at a rate of many tons per year and humans use limited resources. The only way a group of people

Health

Damir / e

- meat is partially carcinogenic
- meat fats are the most dangerous
- production of meat

Ethics

Soyul

- Interspecies farming
- Animal mistreatment

Environment

Falçucio

- CO₂ Production
- Deforestation